

HUNTING TIPS: Deer Hunting with a Minnesota Outdoorsman

HUNTING TIPS FROM OUR EXPERTS

The real estate experts in the PotlatchDeltic Preferred Broker network know all about hunting, fishing and other popular recreational pursuits.

So, we asked some of the outdoor enthusiasts on our team for some deer hunting tips as fall turns to winter around the country. Our next set of tips comes from Charlie Chernak, whose brokerage, Bear Island Land Co., Inc., helps buyers around northeast Minnesota, focusing on the area around Ely.

1. Before you walk into your deer stand, put a little scent on the bottom of your boots.
“I shot a nice buck once who followed me in.”

2. Walk slowly down trails or logging roads on windy days with your face into the wind.
“I have crept up on many deer by using this “slow stalk” strategy.”

3. Practice doing a basic buck grunt without the benefit of a call. This can really be helpful when trying to stop a walking or trotting buck as you are trying to make the shot. Handling a call and putting the crosshairs on the right spot can be cumbersome.
